SEVENTH–DAY ADVENTIST
Rufus B. McDaniel, Pastor
Sabbath School Lesson No. 2– July 2–8, 1972
Subject "Christ's E verlasting Memorial".
Scripture Text –"He hath made his wonderful works to be remembered." Psalms 111:4. Please read the whole chapter Part 1. Divinely appointed Commemoration. Ex. 20:8; 31:17. The fact that the new Testament neither records nor authorizes any transfer of the Sabbath from the Seventh day(Saturday) to the first day(Sunday) of the week manifests the falsity of the claim that Sunday should be kept as the Lord's day in honor of Christ's resurrection on the first day of the week. Part 2. The Everlasting Foundation– pared upon creation (Genesis) and rested the sabbath day according to the commandment." Christ's example. Therefore the Son of man is Lord also of the Sabbath." Christ made the seventh day the Sabbath at creation. In the Ten Commandments He declares that the seventh day is the Sabbath, because He made the world in six days and rested upon the seventh day, and then blessed and hallowed it. Ex.20: 8-11. Part 3. Blessed Forever Gen. 2:3. "And God blessed the seventh day and sanctified it: because that in it he had rested from all his work which God created and made." Part. 4. The Only Right Day. Ex. 20: 10,11. "The seventh day is the sabbath of the Lord thy God ... for in six days the Lord made heaven and earth ...and rested the seventh day: Wherefore the Lord blessed the sabbath day, and hallowed it." Part 5. Relevant to Christianity. Luke 23:56 "And they returned, and prepared spices and ointments; and rested the sabbath day according to the commandment." Christ's resurrection on the first day of the week. Part 2. The Everlasting Foundation– Therefore the Son of man is Lord also of the Sabbath." Christ made the seventh

The Congressman said "a number of new problems" have arisen as a result of the East Coast floods and he is looking into the need for new legislation to meet these situations.

Boy Scouts From Connecticut Were At Campfire Program

A group of Boy Scouts and their leaders got into Appomattox on Wednesday evening, June 28th, just in time to attend the "Living History" campfire program at the Appomattox Court House National Historical Park.

The group, belonging to Boy Scout Troop 263 from Windsor Locks, Connecticut, was made up of 22 scouts and 5 adult leaders. They had spent the past five days on a 50 mile hike from High Bridge and had covered the last 14 miles of the hike to Appomattox on Wednesday. The only one of the entire group without blisters was the lucky leader who drove their personal bus.

After completing their sightseeing in our area, the boys will go by bus to Washington, D.C., for a tour of the nation's Capitol, and then head for home.

He said he would use "all the influence I have to assist those who have suffered so greatly in this disaster".

Also reported were sharp increases in the regional area in the number of households equipped with clothes dryers, air conditioners and other conveniences.

It all adds up to thefact that most local families have been able to upgrade their standard of living since 1960.

In part, it is attributed to the increase in the number of married women who have emerged from the home to take outside jobs in the business world.

The additional income has made spending for special household equipment and other luxuries more possible.

only 900 million dollars is spent in Virginia in travel per year with 50 million being spent in revenue taxes.

"Something New" - What can we expect new in travel by 1980? According to Nelson, we should expect more recreational areas and better traffic control at place of interest for tourists by spreading out the tourists seasons. Year around school systems with more vacations spaced throughout the year and a four-day work week is becoming very popular. With longer week-ends, according to Nelson, more people would travel during the year, not only in summer months as is usual now. This would make for a healthier travel year in Virginia.

"Something Borrowed" - Big industry and business moving in makes travel the largest industry in the state. Virginians should encourage expanding industries and businesses to move into our state.

"Something Blue" - There is really nothing outstanding or really great connected with travel in Virginia. We need to get people interested in traveling, to make it easier for tourists to get away, to stop over-taxing crowded conditions and high prices and we need, definitely, to have more outdoor recreation facilities. In order to increase travel in Virginia, we must sell the idea traveling to the people, stated Nelson.

In the entire United States, 40% of the people have never been over 200 miles from their homes.

DIAL GOOD NEWS

"Living History" Program Held At National Park

A Civil War camp was conducted at Appomattox Court House National Historical Park from June 22 to June 29 as part of the park's "Living History" program with a special campfire program held on Wednesday evening, June 28 at 8:00 p. m. The program was conducted as part of the National Parks Centennial Celebration, 1872 - 1972.

The campfire was glowing within the Court House green near the Union Camp but due to weather conditions the program was held in the Court House.

Kenneth Apschinikat, Park Historian, served as Master of Ceremonies for the "indoor" campfire program and welcomed the guests to the Appomattox National Historical Park. He then introduced Miss Betsy Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Jones of Appomattox, who played the ukulele and led the group in a sing-a-long of such familiar songs as "Carry Me Back To Ole Virginny", "Battle Hymn of the Republic", "Dixie" and "Swing Low Sweet Cahriot." Solos by Miss Jones included "Cruel War" and a folk song, "Last Night I Had The Strangest Dream."

Duane Schrock, Park Ranger, gave a brief talk on WHY APPOMATTOX – not just the way General Lee thought about it but about Appomatox as it is today. In his talk, Schrock briefly covered history of Appomattox beginning with the time in the 1800s when the first stage made weekly stops at what was then known as Clover Hill. The name Clover Hill was dropped, after a request for a county seat in 1845 was granted and this site was picked, Schrock referring to the site of the National Park, "but the railroad, approximately three miles away, took over the town - the Appomattox we live in today." Schrock ended his talk by stating that Appomattox was a new beginning in 1865 because of what happened here on April 9th, we are all united Americans.

John Howard of Lynchburg, now living in the village, portrayed an ex-Confederate soldier as part of the program. Howard will be available periodically throughout the summer to talk with visitors about his experiences during the war and his surrender with General Robert E. Lee of April 9, 1865. He told the guests about his original opinion that the Yankees didn't know how to fight and that he didn't think the war would last long. He was at the Battle of Bull Run with the Army of Northern Virginia, then President Lincoln called in some general named U. S. Grant and sent him to take Richmond. "We thought we'd take him in no time," said Howard, "but General Grant flanked on us and we came from Richmond to a place called Amelia Court House for food but there was none, so we came on to Appomattox on the 8th of April ... our 50,000 men now down to 8,000." He went on to say that on April 9th, Lee spoke to his men and told them that they were going to surrender to Grant. Some men wept openly but there was also some relief. Howard ended by saying that they surrendered everything but the uniforms they had on and headed home with no food, no money, but "we realized we had to unite to become a nation."

Six young history buffs from Michigan volunteered their services for the seek of the Campfire Program. The other side of the story came from Steve Mrozek, of Detroit, Michigan, a Yankee Soldier with the 198th Pennsylvania regiment who stayed on in the village until the fall of 1865. Mrozek said he joined the army as a school boy because jobs were hard to find and his girl friend wanted him to or she would stop seeing him. He first came to Petersburg and stated that the winters were plenty hard trying to stay in trenches. The pay was $13.00 a month, if they got any pay, and most times they didn't. He was in some of the big battles and his regiment was the one sent out to follow General Lee. Wohn they heard of Lee's Surrender Mrozek said, "I was very happy, I could go home. But I was one that got stuck in Appomattox as a guard. I'm still waiting for my orders to come through so I can go home. I'm lonesome and I'm bored." He displayed some of his equipment, he said they got to keep their stuff 'cause they won the war. Mrozek ended his story by saying, "I'm really tired, bored, and I really do want to go home."

The portrayals by both the Confederate soldier and the Yankee soldier were so realistic that you could almost imagine you were there on April 9th in 1865.

Betsy Jones sang a solo, "Smile," composed by a close friend and one of her favorite songs. In closing, all guests joined Betsy in singing "Where Have All The Flowers Gone?"

Ending the program was a presentation of color slides picturing National Parks throughout the United States and some from other countries. Today more than 100 nations have National Parks available for public use and enjoyment.
